Head of Salvation Army Says He Knows of 15 Year Old Lad, Without Home Or Friends, Who Needs Care.

Captain O. Wendell stated today that he had in mind a lad of 15 years of age, who was remarkably bright and would make a useful man if given the opportunity. Captain Wendell said this lad was without home or friends, that his parents were dead, and that he was not taken care of right away a very good chance to make him a useful citizen would be lost.

Persons who are interested are requested to telephone the Salvation Army headquarters.

UNCLE SAM PAYS WELL

The salaries paid by Uncle Sam to Civil Service employees are equal and exceed those paid in any branch of private commercial life. Thousands of appointments are made annually. Quality at home to pass any Civil Service Examination. Write today for free Civil Service Book. International Correspondence Schools, Box 888, Scranton, Pa. Or write Clifford Hoghead, Box 142, Albuquerque, New Mexico.

These will bear watching closely this season.

From time to time, we are going to spring some pleasant surprises in the way of extraordinarily big values that will mean a good saving to economical buyers.

Right in the beginning of the Winter Season, we have a few lines of fine suits specially priced at $20.00, $25.00, $30.00 and every suit positively an exceptional value at the price. They're worth more money.

We bought a few too many of suits. We have a special $15.00 line.

With the interest of our customers at heart we prefer to give them the benefit of getting something really good in their Fall suits now—than much later in the season.

No doubt they won't last long.

VEILED INSINUATIONS MADE BY CANDIDATE OF THE HYBRIDS

McDonald Uses Underhand Methods at Las Cruces in Trying to Injure Character of Judge E. L. Medler.

(Special Correspondence to the Herald) Las Cruces, N. M., Nov. 4.—At a meeting held in Las Cruces Thursday night, W. C. McDonald, Democratic-Progressive candidate for governor on the mugwamp ticket, by base insinuation and innuendo, attacked the character of Honorable Edward L. Medler, candidate for judge of the third judicial district. The speaker stated that Medler was not a worthy man, but did not state where his unworthiness consisted. He merely said, "Before you vote for Medler write to certain lawyers and others in Albuquerque where he used to live. Most of the audience were so completely disgusted with such an underhanded attack, which resorted to the benefit of Medler, McDonald did not pretend to say in any way that Medler is not capable of filling the position of district judge, but merely insinuated that before voting for him we should ask his enemies what kind of a man he is.

In fact, McDonald's whole speech was full of insinuation and innuendo, in the most unbecoming manner, as to a man of intelligence. It is estimated that two-thirds of the audience that heard him was republican. McDonald said, "If you had a man who was dishonest and who worked against your interest, would you keep him or fire him and try someone else?" He did not follow out the analogy and say, "If you had a man or a set of men who, by years of faithful service and honest administration of office, had proven his or their worth, would you fire him or them and take some unknown and untried novice?"

McDonald, upon the stage was the Honorable Felix Martinez, of El Paso and Los Angeles, who, it is understood, has opened up his pork barrel against the possibility of the election of a Democratic legislature in New Mexico next Tuesday, in which case he would be able to go to the United States senate as a New Mexican—though he has not lived in New Mexico for many years.

McDonald stated that "he had heard" that there were inmates of the penitentiary at Santa Fe who were writing to their friends on the outside and asking them to help the republican ticket, as it would result to their benefit and possibly enable them to shorten their terms in the penitentiary. This is on a par with most of McDonald's so-called "arguments" which were based solely upon hearsay and insinuation.

Altogether, his efforts were extremely weak and disappointing to his most ardent supporters, and possibly redounded more to the benefit of the republican ticket than it did to that of the Democratic.

HERBIE HAS A FIT ON STREETS OF LAS CRUCES

Tears Down Placard Containing Truth About His Fight on Bursum and Stamps on It; Ain't It Fierce?

(Special Telegram to Evening Herald) Las Cruces, N. M., Nov. 4.—Herbert J. Hagerman last night addressed a small crowd in Las Cruces, making use of his characteristic speeches, mainly devoted to abuse of H. O. Bursum. In no respect did it differ from the other speeches which he has made in other parts of the state which have been completely refuted, and the reception accorded the speaker was by no means encouraging to him.

On the streets of Las Cruces this morning Mr. Hagerman made a spectacle of himself by tearing down and stamping upon a placard entitled "The Truth About Bursum," which contained a copy of Theodore Roosevelt's letter giving his reasons for removing Hagerman from the office of governor of New Mexico. In his speech last night Mr. Hagerman had retained from any allusion to his removal from office or the causes which led up to it. Presumably, his action on the street this morning is the only answer that he has to make.

The Republicans will close the campaign tonight with a monster demonstration, a torch-light parade through the streets of the city and a big rally at the armory being the principal features. The meeting will be addressed by Judge A. B. Fall of Three Rivers and several local speakers.

Indications point to an unprecedented large majority for the republican ticket, both state and county, in Dona Ana county.

Mr. Albuquerque Tax Payer.

The Journal-Democrat has given you a tremendous volume of falsehood concerning the "good government" of this county under the present board of county commissioners. Have you seen anything in the Journal-Democrat refuting or attempting to deny the statement given you by the Herald yesterday concerning the increase in your tax rate? Have you seen anything in the Journal-Democrat concerning the legalized robbery which Mr. Jesus Romero has committed in increasing the fees of the sheriff's office, as the leader of the sheriff's lobby? Has the Journal-Democrat shown you a single thing to prove the right of the ring of perpetual office holders now in charge of your affairs to continue in charge for five years more? Take this ticket containing the office-holders' names and compare it man by man with the men who are the nominees of the Republican party and decide for yourselves which of these men are likely to give you most efficient service. The only charge the Journal-Democrat has been able to bring in this campaign is that of "Habeas Corpus."

What does that charge mean to you? Look over the list of men who are offered to you for your legislative and county offices by the Republican party. See if you do not believe that these men will give you better government, cheaper government, more economical government than the office holders' ring.

EXCURSIONS RUN TO MAXWELL FOR MEETING

Last Night's Event At Colfax County Town Enthusiastic and Crowded by People from Surrounding Country.

(Special Telegram to Evening Herald) Maxwell, N. M., Nov. 4.—The meeting here last night, on account of which the excursions were run to Maxwell from the surrounding country and from Springer, French and Tinsaj, was one of the best attended and most enthusiastic ever held in the territory.

Provisions were made for carrying for a number of people, but the hall where the addresses were made was crowded to the doors. More than 400 people were present. The Hagen band was in attendance and rendered several selections before the meeting and between the speeches.

Hon. H. O. Bursum, Republican candidate for governor, made a telling address on the principles of the Republican platform, and later delivered one along similar lines in Spanish. Attorney A. B. Roushau of Santa Fe spoke with great effect in both English and Spanish. These two men are noted as being among the best Spanish orators among the English-speaking people of the territory, and the speeches made by them had great effect.

Hon. Frank Springer and others made strong speeches. The meeting began at 7:30 o'clock and continued until 11:30, but during all the time, not a single person left the hall. Every man who was present evinced great interest, and showed enthusiasm for the Republican principles and candidates. Applause several times outlasted two minutes' time.

A feature of the evening was a speech by Rev. Harvey M. Shields of the Episcopal church, who lives at Dawson, who spoke strongly in favor of Bursum as a governor and denounced the big ballot in no uncertain terms.

SLUR ON SOLDIERS RESENTED BY VETERAN

H. R. Whiting, Veteran of '61 Answers Sneering Allusion to Himself and Comrades in Morning Paper.

Albuquerque, Nov. 4, 1911. Editor Evening Herald: I saw in this morning's Journal a stirring statement that the old soldiers who sat on the stage Thursday night out of respect to Mr. Bursum were "laboring under a painful delusion" that he was supporting the principles of Abraham Lincoln.

I desire to say for myself, and I know I speak the views of my old comrades, that we both voted and fought for the principles of Abraham Lincoln and the Republican party as it was under him and we think we are better judges of what those principles were and are than any person both since the war and who is making a shameless fight on the only party that has ever stood for those principles.

We know full well that Mr. Bursum and the Republican party today stand for those same principles and we are laboring under no delusions when we give to both our heartfelt support.

WRIGHT'S GLIDER IS DEMOLISHED

Plane Material Cut Up to Make Dresses for Fishermen's Wives; Framework Burned by Inventors.

Maxton, S. C., Nov. 4.—Thoroughly satisfied that they have solved the long sought problem of lateral stability in an aeroplane, and that their new machine may be made to stand poised motionless in the air above a designated point, Orville Wright, Alva Orville Ogilvie and Little Buster Wright, nephew of the inventor, today dismantled the glider with which they have been experimenting during the past two weeks, and started back to Dayton.

The framework of the interlocking business, which has made so much aeronautic history during the last ten days tonight may be seen only as a little pile of gray and black ash within a hundred feet of the camp site on the Kill Devil sand hill. The finely woven canvas that buoyed the inventors up while the experiments were in progress has been cut into two and three-yard pieces and distributed to the wives and daughters of the life savers at the Kill Devil Hill station. By them it will be transformed into serviceable house dresses and caps, for it is material of extraordinary toughness and resisting texture.

tion, where further experiments will be conducted with tail-sized, fully equipped, motor-driven machines. These machines, known as the "EX" type, are the kind with which Calbraith P. Rodgers is making his record-breaking flight across the country—will be modified only in so far as the heads and tails are concerned.

Instead of the horizontal head, or lifting plane, so familiar on the earlier models of all kinds of flying machines, a single plane, six feet in length and twelve inches in breadth, will be mounted on wooden reaches extending six feet out in front of the center of the main lifting plane. This thin canvas plane will be placed a right angle to the main, or lifting, plane, instead of parallel with them, as was formerly the case.

This is what the Wrights term the automatic stabilizing device. It works in an automatic manner in that it catches the air and offers a resistance to sidewise flying, thus giving the operator of the machine more time in which to think and adjust his levers and meet the changed conditions of the air which disturbed the equilibrium of the machine. It is in effect a jib sail, attached to an airship instead of to a sailboat.

In addition to the automatic stabilizer, the new machines will have a new type of tail, or elevating plane, as aviators term it. This, instead of being inherently rigid, with a control movement up and down at its rear-most side, has been made to warp in a manner similar to the main or lifting planes of the machine—a distinctive Wright feature which has made their machines the easiest to control in unsteady air currents. The advantage obtained in the flexible tail is said to be in soaring. It gives the aviator a greater leverage on the air when he desires to rise or descend and also enables him more perfectly to balance his machine to beat shifting air currents.

No one can be more enthusiastic over the success of the recent experiments than is Orville Wright himself.

"The results of our work here have been of incalculable value," said he, as he was about to board the train for Dayton today. "I have demonstrated the extraordinary efficiency of the new type. The automatic control device will be tried out at Dayton in the near future. Next year we may return to Kill Devil for more extended trials."

Do Not Be Deceived By Belated Campaign Lies

During this campaign the Democratic-Hagerman press has indulged in more of vilification, mud slinging, lying, than has ever been known in the history of a state campaign in the west. There are three days more of this campaign. You are likely to have offered to you during these remaining days the same kind of stuff that has been told you concerning H. O. Bursum and other men during the past few weeks. It is not necessary to tell you the kind of fish Hagerman, the Journal and their Democratic partners are making in this campaign. You know all about it. Only be careful not to be deceived by any lies that may be offered to you in the last few days of this campaign.

ELY AND FULLEN ADDRESS VOTERS OF DEMING

At Biggest Rally Ever Held in Luna County Hagerman's Neighbor Exposes Animus of Fight Against Bursum.

(Special Telegram to Evening Herald) Deming, N. M., Nov. 4.—The best political rally held to date by any party during this campaign was held in this city last night in the interest of the republican party. W. E. Wolf presided, the speakers being Ralph C. Ely, who attacked national issues and pointed out to the farmers the very great necessity of voting the republican ticket in the present campaign. His illustrations were very clear and concise, and were exceedingly well received. The chief speaker of the evening was Hon. E. O. Fullen of Roswell, who held his audience, and it might be said right here that it was the largest political audience that has assembled here this year, from the start to finish, not one single person leaving the hall during his address.

The general trend of Mr. Fullen's remarks was that the interest of Mr. Hagerman in this campaign, who is vigorously fighting Mr. Bursum, the republican candidate for governor, is a personal one; that he is not concerned about the success of the republican party, the interest of the people, or the future of New Mexico, but because of the fact that at the time he came into this territory as governor, unopposed and unopposed by the people of New Mexico, for some unaccountable reason he conceived a personal dislike for Mr. Bursum, principally because of Mr. Bursum's objection to Mr. Hagerman attempting to inaugurate fanciful theories in the New Mexico penitentiary. Mr. Fullen stated to his audience that Mr. Hagerman was a man who had no political standing among the people with whom he has lived for a long number of years. He further stated that after the charges had been made against Mr. Bursum and after Mr. Bursum had been denied a fair and impartial hearing an appeal was made to the courts of this territory and as the result of this appeal, there stands today upon records of the court of the third judicial district a decree and judgment absolutely exonerating and clearing Mr. Bursum of all the charges which were made against him by Mr. Hagerman, that at the time this hearing was heard in court, the territory was represented by its attorney general, the government of the United States was represented by special counsel, and that the inquiry was made to the counsel for the government as to whether he knew anything which had not been developed up to that time which would in any way show that Mr. Bursum was indebted to the territory of New Mexico for funds received or handled by him as warden of the penitentiary, and this representative of the government answered that he knew nothing. Mr. Fullen's argument was in effect that a man who had so handsomely fought against Mr. Bursum, who had conducted the investigation in a secret manner, and who had himself later been removed by the president of the United States from the high office of governor, the president stating at the time that he accepted his resignation, but had some doubt whether or not under the facts and circumstances of the case, it was not his duty to frequently remove him; that this type and class of a man was not a safe guide for the people and voters of New Mexico to follow.

He argued that the future for the people of New Mexico was fraught with too much importance for them to not meticulously at this time. He proved by his remarks that all of the charges which Mr. Hagerman and the few gentlemen who are accompanying him on his trip through the territory have made, have been proven away, and that the men who are to decide the issues on election day, giving the matter careful and calm consideration, will not be influenced in any way by the exaggerated and wild personal remarks being made by the ex-governor of New Mexico. Mr. Fullen referred briefly to the candidacy of the Hon. Frank W. Parker for a place in the bench of the new state, and also to ex-governor Curry's candidacy for a place in congress, paying these gentlemen high tribute, and stating their care in the offices of public trust which they have heretofore occupied, any saying to his audience that they were men of such depth and character and had so proven their worth that no man could be mistaken in giving them his support for the offices for which they are now applicants.

It was a very successful meeting and resulted in much benefit to the Republicans of Luna county, and did much to dispel and remove the false impressions which have been created by the campaign and speeches of Mr. Hagerman and his small following.
